

TINY BEAST 22

The Shaw Armament Systems ThunderCan Tiny Beast 22 is a compact rimfire suppressor that punches way above its size. Constructed of a combination of titanium and stainless steel, this suppressor has strength where needed to handle magnum rimfire cartridges. By employing a modified K baffle core, the suppressor has minimal first round pop and a great tone from first shot to last. The Tiny Beast 22 is a fully user serviceable suppressor with trouble-free disassembly for regular maintenance and cleaning. A cleaning interval of 500 to 1000 rounds (depending on ammo used) is recommended. This is the perfect suppressor for a 22 rifle while only adding about 3 inches to the length of the barrel.
